There's no doubt that several people have been striving to find ways to make money through little to no work on the internet. There are many ways that freelancers get paid, and many of them can be done with little to no tech skills. To start earning money online today, here is a list of 9 of the best websites to make money online. 1) Over on-demand consumer reviews may save you a bundle. People are urged to rate and review different travel arrangements. This is the best way to find out which service is good, although it may be pricey. Currently, there are more than 10 sites that allow reviews of different types of services. 2) Start a drop shipping business. Drop shipping is a great way to start an online store. You set up an online store (much like a regular e-commerce store), reach out to vendors and become an affiliate. This is a huge business and if you are highly skilled in website building and marketing, you can make huge sums of money. 3) Join a profitable affiliate program. An affiliate program is a place that will pay you to promote the business of a third party. This can be really lucrative if you are able to find the right one. Two good online affiliates include Wealthy Affiliate and Amazon Associates. 4) Start a blog. This is one of the fastest ways to make money online. If you already have some experience in website building, then you are in a good position to do this. This is also a great way to build a personal brand and reach out to your target market. To start, you don't need any advanced tech skills. 5) Sign up for a virtual assistant job. These gigs can run from $7-$20 an hour and they are always in demand. People love having someone to take care of the emails, calls, and paperwork. These are low skill jobs but can be done from the comfort of your home. 6) Become a writer for a company. Many people are paying out large sums of money to writers to blog about specific subjects. Once you build up a bit of traffic and establish yourself as an authority, you can set your rates higher. Many companies will also pay you to be featured on their websites or even to do videos on certain topics. 7) Sell all of your stuff. It is tough to think about how to make money online when you start, but if you have a little bit of a computer tech background, then you can make some extra cash through f678ea9f9e
